Eight years, one beach, and a plate of sushi.

Kamila and Michael first came to Zanzibar in 2014 — separately, unaware they were so close. She stayed at Cristal Resort, he at Jambo Beach Bungalows — just one kilometre of the same Paje beach between them. Their paths did not cross.

They met eight years later, at the kitesurfing school in Paje. Their first date was at O-Kami Sushi in the Dhow Inn — and that was where it all truly began.

When O-Kami closed its doors in 2025, they did not want the story to end there. It was more than a restaurant — it was the beginning. So it was given a second life: its spirit, its people and its flavours carried into this place, so others can make their own sushi dates.

Every plate here carries the echo of that first date. Some places do not end their story — they simply change its form. Karibu.
